OBJECTIVE

I am a seasoned Software Developer with extensive experience in full-stack web development, specializing in building scalable applications using the MERN stack (MongoDB, Express.js, React, and Node.js). My professional journey has equipped me with a strong grasp of backend and frontend architecture, API development, database optimization, and secure coding practices. Additionally, I have hands-on expertise in tools and technologies such as Next.js, Redux, and TypeScript, enabling me to design and implement high-performance, maintainable, and user-centric web solutions tailored to diverse business needs.
